CONCERNING THE DRAFT.

WAR DEPARTMENT, PROVOST MARKHAY'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, August 6, 1863.

CIRCULAR No. 64.—First: The names of men, who have entered the military service of the United States for three years or the war, and which may by chance be drawn in the draft, shall be stricted, by the Board of Euroliment of the district in which they may be drawn, from the rolls of frasted men of that district. Suitable remarks, explanatory of the case, shall, in each instance, be entered upon the rells opposite the names thus stricken from them
The men whose mannes may be so drawn or stricken from the rolls of any district shall be credited on the quots of the

With report to liability to deaft of members of the liberal ment Ecard and of Sulfers.

Originos—It seems that under the comprehensive and a "practive language of the Empling act, entirers, together with the members of the empling board are necessarily subject to draft. If the latter are now in the military service it may be ground, should they be draftled for relieving them from the duties of the field, but not naving been in the military service on the 3d of March, the law gives them no privilege of exemption beyond that which is secured to other citizens. Statements appeared in some of the Northern pa-pers after the fall of Vicksburg and the defeat of Lee, to the effect that the question of peace had been discussed in the Federal Cabinet, and that's cabinet crisis has been caused by a proposition of Mr. Seward to issue a Presidential procla mation, offering an amnesty to the Southern people withdrawing the Emancipation Proclamation, sus pending the Confiscation act, and offering protection to the persons, property, and rights of the Southern people, except the lenders; that Attorney-General Bates and Mr. Montgomery Blair favor the scheme, with a modification; that Mesars. Stanton and Chase violently oppose it, and Mr. Wells also opposes it, but not so strongly. Here, where the public is accustomed to assumptions of this kind, these statements were not thought of sufficient importance to demand attention. It seems now that they went to Europe, and were made the foundation there of new castles in the air, built by the European enemies of the United States. It is therefore proper to say that these statements had no foundation whatever in fact.

NAVIGATION OF THE MISSISSIPPI. Robert C. Gist, Special Agent of the Post-Office Department, in charge of the Memphis Post-Office, writes to the Hon. George W. McClellan, Second Assistant Postmaster-General, that steamboats are arriving and departing almost daily to and from New-Orleans, without molestation from guerrillas. He adds:

He adds:

I am now making up a mail daily for New-Orleans. I have consulted the Surveyor of the Port, Master of Transportation, and other officials, all of whom express a decided opinion that the Eastern and Northern mails for New-Orleans can be sent with more safety and expedition via the Mississippi river than by the ocean steamers, so long as Rebel piratical vessels continue to intest our coast, and known depredations.

NEW-YORK, July 19, 10th.

This certifies that my mother has been for some time afflicted with partial deafness, suffering from pain, and rumbiting noises in the head, together with other indications of a total loss of heaving. Dr. Von Fiscoherg removed from her ears a great quantity of matter, together with commissed blood, relieving her instantaneously, and all without pain. It is with grateful thanks that I give this testimony to his skill.
